The prisoner's Counsel moved for a new trial; but the Judge overruled the motion. Seved by the Court during the trial, and we learn formerly of Columbia, S. C. eral bills of exceptions were signed and sealthat a petition will probably be sent up to the General Court, which meets at Richmond in December, for a writ of error to bring the case before that tribunal. Should this be granted, and the verdict of the jury set aside, the punish ment for murder in the second degree is confinement in the Penitentiary, the longest term of which is eighteen years.

MEMPHIS.

an extract of a letter from a gentleman in of Cape Fear. Memphis, containing some account of that city, which may be interesting to those who expect in a few days to become its guests. We there- Carney, formerly a printer, and at one time one of the Editors of the Fayetteville Observer. He fore give it a place in our columns:

"The city of Memphis is situated on what is termed the 4th Chickasaw Bluff, upon the east bank of the Mississippi river, in lat 35 deg. 11m. in the south-western extremity of the State of Tennessee, at the distance of 600 miles Bunting. below Louisville, and about 800 above New Orleans. This city has many decided advantages. The location is very fine indeed, it heing upon the highest ridge of land, and from 100 to 150 feet above high water mark, commanding an extensive view of the river, above and below, its appearance from which, at a distance, is very imposing. The climate is often eulogized as being preferable to any other in the United States, neither extremes being intense. It was first settled in 1820, but increased in population slowly, until the year 1840-41, since which time it has more than doubled its population, and its increase still goes on. It has already obtained much importance from its position, population and business. The spirit of improvement is evidently here. At first glance, it is readily perceived that the city is of recent growth. The present population does not vary much from 7000. Memphis contains the following public buildings, viz: five churches, one Catholic, one Baptist, one Methodist, one Episcopal and I Presbyterian, a market; four hotels, (three large of new) -the Gayoso house is considered the finest building in the place; one bank and two branch banks-the Farmers & Merchants Bank is a beautiful structure. and possesses a capital of $600,000. Let go my Hair .- An old pastor once stated, that in the whole course of 50 years preaching, he never laughed but three times in the pulpit, during the exercises of the Sabbath. On one of these occasions, the following occurence

The pews of the church were those old fashioned square ones, so that the people in different pews often sat back to back, only separated by a low railing for a division.

Now it fell out one Sabbath that two good old deacons, in two contiguous pews, had fallen into profound meditations, and closing their twice two eyes, had thrown their heads back until their two occupants, with their long el. There were some wicked people present, who scandalously insinuated that the two deacons were asleep, but I looked upon it as mere persecution for righteousness' sake. However, there was an awful depraved young man in the third pew, that cornered upon the two, where the deacons were meditating, and what does this sacriligious sinner do? Why he takes the dangling queues aforesaid, and softly ties them closely and firmly together. And then, as if that were not enough to send him to perdition, he takes a Well the deacon jumped, of course, like a quire of
